

THE TWO-MINUTE SCAM DRILL

Your phone rings. The caller says they are from your bank. They say $4,800 is being stolen RIGHT NOW. They need the six-digit code that just arrived on your phone.

WHAT DO YOU DO?

STOP.
DO NOT GIVE THE CODE.
HANG UP.
CALL THE BANK USING A NUMBER YOU FIND YOURSELF.

QUICK VARIATIONS

- Grandchild emergency: Use the family password, hang up, and call family through a known number.
- Package text link: Do not use the link. Open the delivery company's normal app or website.
- Government or tax threat: Do not pay on the call. Find the official agency website yourself.
